ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for maintaining a secure run-time environment in which arbitrary relationships between the subjects and objects of differing sensitivity labels are defined so as to provide for discrete access between arbitrary, normally incomparable sensitivity labels.

25375445.1